A convenient way to access Madera County arrest records is by visiting the Madera County Department of Corrections website. The website provides an online search inquiry where those who are interested in an inmate may perform a search without visiting the government facility in person. Providing a booking number, the inmate's first and last name as well as case number will yield results. Archive record search is also made possible by ticking the box beside the "include archive records in search". If the search provides no result or did not return any search results, one may also visit the Superior Court of the County website or by visiting one of its court divisions. The two offices are located in the main division in Yosemite and in the Sierra. Requestors may request in person or through mail request. For those who would make an in-person request, a fee of $15.00 is charged for each name search. Additional fees may apply if the requestor wishes to have additional copies of the report. For those who would be mailing their request, requestors must provide information about the case including the defendant's name, case number and other information needed. Other government agencies that requestors may also check include the clerk recorder office which can provide official arrest records that happened in the county. The Probation section in the site also provides the public with a list of individuals who are put into the Most Wanted List. Requestors may find information about the offender by checking out the site or calling the Probation Department for more information. Aside from the options mentioned above, requestors may also obtain a copy of their criminal records by setting an appointment with the Sheriff's Department. Download the fingerprint form from the Department of Justice and present the form together with a valid identification for verification. For those who are interested in checking out an inmate or offender in bulk, they may also try third party search providers online to help them retrieve data and information which is convenient as it cover less time. For those who wish to obtain an arrest report, follow the instructions below: - Visit the Madera County Clerk Office.- Write a request including the name, case number and full name.- Mail the request with $15.00 in cheque for record search.- Additional fees may apply for additional copies of the report.
